UNITED STATES COLD STORAGE DEMONSTRATES COMMITMENT TO FOOD SAFETY IN TRANSPORTATION – EARNS COLD CARRIER CERTIFICATION

Camden, NJ - March 14, 2022

United States Cold Storage proudly announces that it has earned the Cold Carrier Certification, the first certification of its kind focused on excellence in refrigerated transportation. The Certification is offered by the Global Cold Chain Alliance (GCCA), a trade association for the cold chain industry working to grow the industry and lead the cold chain.

The Cold Carrier Certification recognizes cold carrier companies that comply with the GCCA Refrigerated Transportation Best Practices Guide. This guide was published to provide support to companies on implementing the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's rule for the Sanitary Transportation of Human and Animal Food (STF) in the U.S. Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA). Though this is a U.S.-based standard, GCCA considers the best practices laid out in its Guide to be applicable across the globe.

"Earning this certification demonstrates our extraordinary commitment to sanitary and safe perishable product transportation," says Keith Mowery, SVP Logistics & Transportation." This certification provides our customers with an added layer of confidence - and documentation - that we are doing our utmost to ensure the safety and sanitation of their perishables shipments, protecting your brand.

"We are committed to sanitary and safe perishable product transportation and earning the Cold Carrier certification demonstrates that to our customers and to the public at large," says Mowery." The US Cold team believes it is essential to ensure food safety and quality throughout the supply chain – and we're doing our part."

GCCA President Matthew Ott, CAE, CMP, says, "I applaud US Cold's commitment to food safety, demonstrated by becoming a Certified Cold Carrier. Together, we can all work to ensure we are forging a universally strong cold chain where every product retains quality and safety through each link."
